

Medical Office Management, Associate of Applied Science (AAS)

Description

Together with Medical Assistant diploma level classes offered residentially at select Lincoln Group of Schools campuses, the Medical Office Management online degree completion program is designed to prepare students with a strong foundation upon which to build a successful career. Graduates of this program will earn an Associate of Applied Science (AAS) degree and will possess the knowledge and skills required to launch versatile careers within today's dynamic healthcare profession.

The overall educational objective of the program is to provide students with the opportunity to train for careers in the medical field where they can work alongside doctors, nurses, and other health professionals in hospitals, clinics and physicians' offices.* The Associate degree portion of the program in particular serves to further expose students to business management fundamentals, provide a well-rounded education and help expand each graduate's opportunities for employment and advancement.

Upon completion of the Associate of Applied Science degree in Medical Office Management, graduates will be equipped to confidently enter the medical field where they can secure jobs as medical assistants, medical receptionists, health unit managers, medical office supervisors and more.
